

INTERNATIONAL NAVIGATION
ASSOCIATION

ASSOCIATION INTERNATIONALE
DE NAVIGATION

Guidelines and Recommendations for River Information Services

InCom
Report of WG 24
2004

INTERNATIONAL NAVIGATION ASSOCIATION

FOREWORD

SUMMARY

ABBREVIATIONS

- 1 INTRODUCTION
- 2 DEFINITIONS
- 3 PARTICIPATING VESSELS
- 4 RIS ARCHITECTURE
 - 4.1 General
 - 4.2 RIS-Stakeholders
 - 4.2.1 Policy makers
 - 4.2.2 Regional managers
 - 4.2.3 System engineers
 - 4.2.4 Service providers
 - 4.2.5 RIS users

4.3	RIS objectives
4.4	RIS tasks
4.5	RIS services
4.6	RIS functions and information needs
4.7	RIS regulations
4.8	RIS applications
4.9	RIS systems
5	RECOMMENDATIONS FOR INDIVIDUAL SERVICES
5.1	Fairway information service (FIS)
5.1.1	General
5.1.2	Radiotelephone service on inland waterways
5.1.3	Internet service
5.1.4	Electronic navigational chart service (Inland ECDIS)
5.2	Traffic information
5.2.1	General
5.2.2	Tactical traffic information (TTI)
5.2.3	Strategic traffic information (STI)
5.3	Traffic management
5.3.1	Local traffic management (Vessel traffic services, VTS)
5.3.2	Navigational support
5.3.3	Lock and bridge management
5.4	Calamity abatement support
5.5	Information for transport logistics
5.6	Information for law enforcement
6	PLANNING OF RIS
6.1	General
6.2	Responsibilities
6.3	Liability
6.4	Planning process
6.5	Training
7	STEPWISE DEVELOPMENT OF RIS
8	RIS STANDARDISATION PROCEDURES
	Annex 1: Inland ECDIS (electronic navigational chart)
	Annex 2: Electronic ship reporting in inland navigation
	Annex 3: Notices to skippers in inland navigation
	Annex 4: Inland AIS (transponders)
	Annex 5: Example of an information processing loop (traffic management)
	Annex 6: Some RIS related web sites